BAILEY WOULD TAX INCOMES

THAT SENATOR PROPOSES TO INCREASE THE TAX ON ESTATE INCOME

RATE WOULD BE 3 PER CENT

He Estimates That If His Amendment Should Pass It Will Result In $500,000 A Year—Estimated Unquestionably by Supreme Court After Being Eliminated.

Washington, April 16.—Senator Bailey yesterday introduced a bill into the senate to amend the tariff bill in relation to a revenue tax on estate income on all income above $500 a year. It exempts all income from real estate, stocks and bonds, and income of corporations but not income of individuals.

The former law on this subject provides that income in excess of $100 on the income of an individual is to be taxed at 10 per cent. Bailey estimates that if his amendment should pass it will result in $500,000 annually.

Mr. Bailey said he had introduced the amendment so far in advance of the session because he wished the senator to have a full opportunity to consider it before it was taken up.

His income tax amendment, he said, is the same as the law which has formerly been enacted, and declared unconstitutional by the supreme court.
The amendment would exempt income of $500 from taxation, and tax the balance at 10 per cent.

Senator Baileys Law.
"I have here," said Mr. Bailey, "a bill which I have introduced into the senate, and I am sure that it will be passed by the senate and the house, and I am sure that it will be passed by the supreme court."

He said that the amendment would be passed by the senate and the house, and that it would be passed by the supreme court.

It can be shown that the supreme court's decision on a recent case was a confirmation of the proposition that the amendment would be passed by the supreme court.

On motion of Senator Baileys the senate agreed to a resolution of the house to the effect that the amendment shall be passed by the senate.
